CURTAIN RISES ON THE 1919 FEST OF THE GOLDEN WEST

HUGE CROWDS GATHERED FOR FRONTIER DAYS

TIMES DRY OR WET--OPINIONS DIVERSE

One Man Says JOKER TOOK DRY LAW STRIKE

Inland: That Incorporated Towns Still Pass Their Own Anti-Saloon Laws--Walls Says He's Off Duty

Dried up Wyoming actually got dry on the first of the present month, and the state directors--the Wyoming State Anti-Saloon League--have, in their wisdom, given their freedom to the people of the state.

A man who served Wyoming as director of the Anti-Saloon League and who is a member of the organization's executive committee, has said that Wyoming will remain wet. The state is now in a dry condition, and it is believed that the local authorities will continue to enforce the law. However, the state directors have not yet issued an official statement on the matter.

The Wyoming State Anti-Saloon League has been active in the state since 1917, and it has worked hard to keep the state in a dry condition. The organization has been successful in its efforts, and Wyoming remains one of the few states that are still dry.

One of the main reasons for the state's dry condition is the fact that the state is located in a dry climate. The climate of the state is not conducive to the growth of alcohol, and this has made it difficult for the state to remain wet.
