

MEMORIAL DAY

Since the World war, Memorial day has had an even greater significance for the present generation, because so many of us who are living today had relatives and friends who died that their country might live.

Originally a day of memorial for the North and South—each devout in its belief that each was right, the day has come to be a time of consecrated memory for all those who have died in any of the three great wars in which the United States has been a participant during the last century.

It is meet that we should pause tomorrow to pay tribute to those who made the supreme sacrifice for their country. Whether of the Blue or the Grey, a Spanish War veteran or a member of the khaki-clad forces of the World war, his memory is to be hallowed with our most hallowed memories and sincere respect.

MEMORIAL DAY

Each succeeding year rekindles our faith in the nation and justifies the supreme sacrifice made by those that gave up their lives that we might live in peace and prosperity. All honor to those whose memory today we are privileged to commemorate.

MEMORIAL DAY

In the bustle of business activity we are prone to forget temporarily those sacred memories on which have been builded the ideals of the American nation. Memorial day comes once a year, a milestone in the history of those whose deeds made possible the nation of today. Facing the foe with the supreme courage found only in those whose cause is right, they made the supreme sacrifice that the ideals of liberty, equality and fraternity might be maintained for the America of tomorrow.

MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial day is the day of tribute to those who have died that we might live in peace and contentment. And thought and sentiment, which speak a language of their own, might fittingly for this occasion, be turned to the heroes of our American wars.

MEMORIAL DAY

There are but few times in a lifetime when we have the opportunity to pay tribute to the memory of those who have given their lives in the interests of their country. Memorial day is dedicated particularly for that purpose, that we might reverence those who have sacrificed their all that we might enjoy the fruits of American democracy.

Turning Back the Leaves of History

On May 30 we turn back the pages of history to 1861-65 and honor those who, as young men and boys, wrote large their names in American annals.

History's latest chapter gives to all of us a broader conception of what war is and enables us to understand more fully the deeper meaning of Memorial day.

On that day this institution will remain closed in honor of our Soldier Dead.

MEMORIAL DAY

East, west, north and south—the entire population of the United States should be vitally a part of the proper observance of Memorial day. It is for us the official occasion for remembrance of the untold benefits we enjoy as a result of the wars which have made this country safe for democracy. We pay silent tribute tomorrow to all those who in the uniform of the United States, have given up their lives for their country.

MEMORIAL DAY

One again the sacred day on which we do honor to our fallen dead is at hand. Let our thoughts on this day reflect on the deeds and the principles for which these patriots sacrificed their lives for their country.

MEMORIAL DAY

Tomorrow, Memorial day, affords us the opportunity to bow our heads in reverence and pay homage to the soldier dead of all American wars. Through each succeeding conflict the same spirit of democracy and fearlessness in the cause of right has inspired young Americans to sacrifice their lives on the altar of liberty, that through their victories the ideals of the people might be perpetuated.

MEMORIAL DAY

A nation loyal to itself first of all but never failing to measure up to the demands of advancing civilization is the supreme ideal of Memorial day. Not only must we reverence those for whom this day has been dedicated but also we must strive to maintain the ideals for which they made the sacrifice.
