PROCLAMATION.

By the Governor of Wyoming.

To the People of Wyoming: A really grateful and patriotic people will do more than barely enroll in history those of its heroes through whose efforts it has secured or preserved an honorable place among the nations...

Responding to this sentiment in the hearts of the American people, the Executives of most of the States have annually, since the War of the Rebellion, set apart a day for public ceremonies commemorative of that devotion to country which led so many of our citizens to freely give their lives as a sacrifice in that great struggle for the maintenance of the Union...

And what commemoration more fitting and beautiful than the solemn civic and military procession, the patriotic oration, and that strewing of flowers upon the graves of the heroic dead, which have now become so nearly universal?

The graves of soldiers who fell in the late war are not numerous in Wyoming, but they are not on that account the less deserving of our tender care. And then, in many a valley and on many a height, there sleep brave soldiers and pioneers, slain by a savage foe while leading the civilization that is to make of Wyoming a great and prosperous commonwealth. Should not these also be remembered on such occasions with grateful words and sprinkled flowers?

In full accord with this usage of the States, and with the patriotic sentiment which prompted its inauguration, I do hereby designate Friday, the 30th instant, as "Decoration Day" for the Territory of Wyoming, and recommend such observance thereof as shall fitly honor the beloved dead, while strengthening a love of country in the hearts of the people.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the Territory, at the city of Cheyenne, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and third.

(SEAL.) JOHN W. HOYT, By the Governor: A. WORTH SPATES, Secretary of Wyoming Territory.

BIG SPRINGS REWARD.

Lieutenant Allen and His Men are Given a Share of the Reward for the Capture of the U. P. Express Robbers.

From the Omaha Herald. The case of Bardley against the U. P. R. Co., for the reward offered for the capture of the men who robbed the express car at Big Springs in 1876, came to a close Monday, having occupied the United States court since Friday. N. J. Burnham appeared for the defense, and General Cowin for the prosecution. The principal points of the case are known to our readers. Collins, the leader of the robbers, and one of the party named Potts, crossed the Kansas Pacific railroad at Buffalo station, Grove county, Kansas, a few days after the robbery.

Lieut. Allen was stationed at Fort Hayes, and was in possession of a description of Collins, given him by Sheriff Dave Burley of Omaha. In company with Sheriff Bradley of Ellis county, Kansas, and nine men from fort, Allen surrounded Collins and Potts, and in the attempt to capture them, killed both, securing about $20,000 of the stolen money.

When the question of the reward came up for settlement, $10,000 being offered pro rata, for the capture of the party, Bardley claimed the entire amount, on the ground that soldiers, from the nature of their duties, are not entitled to it. The respective arguments took place yesterday, and were confined by the court to an hour and a half each. Mr. Burnham argued in the evening and afternoon. The jury came in last evening after a brief absence, and found a verdict of $2,500 for Bardley, and $1002.70 for Lieut. Allen and the soldiers, the amount of the entire reward for Collins and Potts, being $3,552.70.

The arguments of the respective counsel were elaborate and thorough. On one of the points involved, the Court instructed the jury that although the statutes of Kansas prevented a county officer from receiving a reward, that point could not enter into consideration of the case. The U. P. R. Co. was willing to pay the full amount of the reward, and it was the business of the court to find out who are entitled to it by the conditions under which it was offered.

Gould's Telegraph Scheme

Is Being Rapidly Put Into Practical Operation.

Anti-Chinese Legislation Disregarded in the Empire.

A Man Slips From the Noose and Escapes Drowning.

Gould's New Telegraph Line.

NEW YORK, May 21.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says: The following, which is published here, indicates the advanced state of progress of establishing the new system of railway telegraph lines. Independent lines between Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore are under actual construction, and poles are now being delivered between these points. Several lines connecting these centres with various points in New England and Canada have been purchased or leased, and a number of other lines are reported in process of construction. The Wabash railroad system is in full co-operation with the new telegraph scheme, these lines being controlled by Cyrus W. Field, Solomon Humphreys, Sidney Dillon, Jay Gould and other New York parties. It is also understood that the Pacific roads are making arrangements, under the leadership of Gould, to effect a connection with the Baltimore & Ohio system at Chicago, St. Louis and intermediate points.

Not Born to be Hung or Drowned.

CINCINNATI, May 21.—Wm. Allen, who eloped with Jennie Atchley, wife of a farmer from Batavia, Ohio, a few days since, was captured in this city and placed in the jail at Batavia. This morning a mob entered the jail, seized Allen, hung him on the timbers of the bridge over the Little Miami river. After hanging a few moments the rope broke and he dropped into the river. He succeeded in swimming to the shore, where he was taken to the hotel, where he now lies in a bruised condition.

China Indifferent.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The following is received per ship North American from Yokohama and Hong Kong April 9th: The news of the veto of the Chinese bill excited various and conflicting comments. The Americans throughout China express satisfaction at the rejection of so summary a plan for disposing of the questions at issue. Europeans merely evince surprise, having, in most cases, anticipated different action. The Chinese take contradictory views, even among themselves. In the immediate neighborhood of Hong Kong, the port of emigration, where the friends and relatives of the Chinese now in America reside, much gratification is shown. The idea appears to prevail that future persecutions are impossible, but there are no indications of increased departures. Around Shanghai the populace seems apparently indifferent and the officers are reticent.

Iowa Untrifled in Council.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, May 21. The Democratic State convention assembled here this morning. A temporary organization was effected by choosing James H. Hagerman, of Keokuk, president. Upon taking the chair he returned thanks for the honor, and endorsed the attitude of the Democratic party in Congress. He denounced President Hayes, and declared that the Democracy will only elect the next President, but will inaugurate him. Committees on resolutions and credentials were appointed and a recess taken.

Sumers From Indian Territory.

CHICAGO, May 21.—The Times says: Reports from the Indian Territory represent that the Choctaws and Chickasaws are arming themselves to resist the threatened raids upon their lands. This preparation comes a little late since the government has already knocked the wind out of the colonizing scheme, but nothing would be so likely to give new and irresistible vitality to the movement as would the murder of a few trespassing settlers.

Taft and Foster.

CINCINNATI, May 21.—Charles Foster, in a letter, has expressed his willingness to take the second place on the Republican gubernatorial ticket if it is deemed essential. The ticket now seems likely to be Taft and Foster.

President of Northern Pacific R. R. will Resign.

NEW YORK, May 21.—President C. B. Wright, of the Northern Pacific railroad company, has announced his intention of resigning his position, that he may be able to gain health and strength to undergo a surgical operation for cataract. He will retain his seat in the directory.

The Kellogg-Spofford Case.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Senate committee on Privileges and Elections has requested Kellogg and Spofford to inform the committee of the number of witnesses they desire to call and the points of testimony they expect to elicit. The committee will then determine the time and manner of commencing the investigation.

WASHINGTON.

Veto No. 3 Nearly Ready.

Then Will Follow the Democratic Caucus

That Will Decide to Allow the Appropriations

And Go Before the People on the Record Made.

Secretary McCrary Will Succeed Judge Dillon on the Supreme Bench.

Hayes Preparing Veto No. 3.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—There is good authority for stating that the President will veto the legislative appropriation bill on Monday if it reaches him Saturday. The Attorney General has already furnished his objections to the supervisors and marshals section. The message will probably be brief, and will hold that supervision in the characters of supervisors and marshals is necessary to insure free elections.

What Then?

There are many indications that the sentiment in favor of providing the customary appropriations before adjournment, either for the whole year or by a continuing resolution until January next, is constantly gaining strength. There is, in fact, good reason to believe that in the event of this policy being strenuously opposed by a majority of the caucus a sufficient number of Democrats, both in the House and Senate, will unite with the Republicans to pass the appropriation bills without the political riders, and force an immediate adjournment. The South Carolina delegation in both houses, together with the several members from Georgia, Texas and a few other States are already ripe for such a movement, and the knowledge of this fact is quietly exerting great influence with a majority of their party.

Judge Dillon's Successor.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—It is stated that Secretary McCrary has decided to accept the position of U. S. circuit judge for the eighth district to be made vacant by the resignation of Judge Dillon, but will not leave the Cabinet before the 1st of September next.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, May 21. Consideration was resumed in the morning hour of the bill to repeal and amend the laws relating to the transfer of cases from the State to the Federal courts.

Mr. Frye suggested to Townsend, who was in charge of the bill, whether in view of the importance of the measure, and the lack of attention given it, he would not consent to have it referred to the Judiciary committee, or recommended to the Committee on the Decision of Laws, not to be brought back until next session.

Mr. Townsend declined to accede to the suggestion, and intimated that there was no lack of interest or attention on the part of the House. He insisted on his demand for the previous question.

The Republican side of the House thereupon refrained from voting, so there should not be a quorum, and then the call of the House was begun. The call of the House and the yeas and nays votes on other dilatory motions consumed the morning hour, and the bill went over.

The legislative appropriation bill was received from the Senate and referred to the committee on Appropriations.

Mr. Cox introduced a bill for the International Exhibition of Arts, Manufactures and Products in New York. Referred to the committee on Foreign Affairs.

Under special order, the silver bill was then taken up, the question being on the fourth section as amended yesterday on motion of Mr. Marsh. The amendment is as follows: "The charge for converting gold and silver bullion into coin shall be the difference between the market value, in New York City, of bullion, and the legal tender value of the coin."

A vote was taken on the section, the
